General Information

Short summary

A German company, specialised in designing, manufacturing, distributing, supplying, and installing of industrial supports and other metal construction products, is searching for cast producers who could produce tension clamps according to DIN 1681-1985 on the basis of a supplier agreement.

Full description

A German metal working company, producing and distributing heavy and large mounts for power plant technologies, chemical plants, within the automotive industry, and other industries, is looking for a future co-operation partner who would be able to produce tension clamps for fixing pipes and pipelines in heavy-duty areas, e.g. dams hydroelectric power stations, etc.

The tension clamps have a special requirement in material and measurements. The product must meet the requirements of the GS45N DIN 1681-1985 standard. A drawing and an example illustrate the expected end product. These clamps will be used in fixing pipes and pipelines for support in steel constructions. Such constructions could be made from steel, stainless steel, and/or steel components.

The company considers a supplier contract as form of cooperation.
